THE LOST CHILD.

A PATE WORSE THAN ABDUCTION. How Parents, by a Lack of Precaution and Care, are Responsible for the Death of their Children.

(Camden, Me., Herold.) The moral and legal responsibility of parents in the care of their children is, fortunately, attracting the serious attention of the better portion of the entire country. The many instances of child beating, oppression, and other forms of cruelty which have come to light, demand that something be done, and it is gratifying to know that the neonle are becoming theorytically aroused. the people are becoming thoroughly aroused Whether the cruelty be in the form of physical violence or physical neglect matters not—the principle in both cases is the same. The man or woman who neglects his or her own health may be pardoned, as the con-sequences fall upon the individual alone; but the parent or guardian who permits the inroads of disease upon the innocent ones dependent upon him for protection, is criminally liable in the sight of God, however he may appear in the eyes of men. over he may appear in the eyes of men. There are, however, parents that intend to care for their children, but who, through carelesseess or the urgency of other duties, permit them to become the innocent victims of disease. Such parents may be gnilliess of intentional wrong, but the disastrons results upon their children are just as great. These are truths which must be manifest to every worthy parent and especially in a vicinity where the unknown effects of the atmosphere, the water and the general ten-dency to malaris are so great. There are nany families in this locality who have seen called upon to mourn untimely losses, even when the greatest care was exercised; but the experience of one only will be given if is that of the late W. Domestic accidents are common to women, and some of them are very surious. Mrs. Warner, of South Rondout, Ulsior Co. N.
